

TransitionTracker

Collaboration Proposal for Research Alignment

Dear Research Team,

My name is Seralyn Campbell, and I'm the creator of TransitionTracker — an upcoming mobile app designed to help transgender individuals monitor physical, emotional, and physiological changes throughout transition. The app allows users to opt in to sharing fully anonymous, de-identified longitudinal data to support evidence-based research on gender-affirming care.

Before launch, I want to ensure the app's data structure aligns with metrics that will genuinely advance medical and psychosocial research in this area. I'm reaching out to request your input on which additional measures, variable definitions, or formats might make TransitionTracker's anonymized data most valuable to your ongoing work.

A one-page summary of the current data schema is attached. I'd be honored to adapt the design to better serve both community needs and academic rigor.

Thank you for your time and for the research your institution contributes to trans health worldwide.

Sincerely,

Seralyn Campbell

Creator, TransitionTracker

Barcelona, Spain

■ [your contact email here]

■ [optional project site link]